3. Editorial bio

Monica Paredes Chambers is a Costa Rica-born spiritual director, church planter, and urban missionary who functions as one half of a married author-practitioner team with her husband Jeremy Chambers. Her formation arc moves from Costa Rica through a missionary-family relocation to Lancaster, Pennsylvania — where her family planted a Latin American church serving the U.S. context — into a decade of microchurch planting in Richmond, Virginia, and her current ministry base in Littleton, Colorado (Denver metro), where she has lived since approximately 2022.

She is best known as co-author of The Art of Missional Spirituality: 31 Sacred Practices for Jesus-Followers (100 Movements Publishing, 2023), which carries a foreword by Alan and Debra Hirsch and is the central artifact of her published voice — an attempt to fuse contemplative spiritual formation (Foster-Willard-Renovaré tradition) with movemental missional ecclesiology (Hirsch / Forge / V3 tradition). Her earlier co-authored work, Kingdom Contours, is structured around Alan Hirsch's The Forgotten Ways / mDNA as a blueprint and reads as a practitioner's curriculum for movement leaders.

Her current institutional footprint spans three nodes: Forge America (where she and Jeremy serve as movement coaches), The Pando Collective / Pando Denver (a network of 20+ leaders), and The Arise Network (a network of seven microchurches in the U.S. and abroad, originating as Arise RVA in Richmond). She also serves Renovaré as a contributing author and podcast guest. Together, she and Jeremy report participation in launching disciple-making movements across 35+ countries.

5. Frameworks

31 Sacred Practices for Jesus-Followers

Field	Value
Introduced	2023, The Art of Missional Spirituality
Components	31 daily (or weekly-for-a-year) practices grouped across: (1) prayer-focused (intercessory, soaking, centering, praying the hours), (2) scripture engagement (creative memorization alternatives), (3) relational/missional (spiritual friendship, secret acts of kindness, solitude/silence, communion)
Visual / model	One-month linear calendar (31 practices); also configurable as weekly rhythm across a year
Adoption evidence	Used as curriculum in Pando Denver (20+ leaders), Arise Network (7 microchurches), and global Forge cohorts; foreword by Alan & Debra Hirsch; Goodreads 4.47 / 17 ratings
Source	The Art of Missional Spirituality (Amazon)

The framework argues that personal spirituality and kingdom mission collapse into a single rhythm: practices are not retreat from the neighbor but propellant into the neighbor, and a daily 31-practice arc trains both interior intimacy with God and exterior incarnational presence in one move.

Breathing In / Breathing Out (contemplation-mission rhythm)

Field	Value
Introduced	Articulated publicly in Everyday Disciple podcast (2023); recurs in Pivotal People (Jan 2024) and Shifting Culture (Jul 2024)
Components	(1) Breathing in = contemplation, silence, prayer, scripture, communion; (2) Breathing out = mission, neighbor-presence, acts of kindness, planting, hospitality; (3) Pathology of imbalance — "always breathing out → hyperventilate; always breathing in → suffocate"
Visual / model	Respiration metaphor; somatic / bodily framing for spiritual formation
Adoption evidence	Used as Monica's primary teaching frame across podcast appearances
Source	Everyday Disciple Podcast

The frame functions as Monica's signature critique of both burnout-prone missional activism and disengaged contemplation: each is fatal in isolation; only respiratory rhythm sustains.

Kingdom Contours (six elements)

Field	Value
Introduced	2022, Kingdom Contours: Foundations, Paradigms, and Tools for Equipping Jesus Movements
Components	(1) Christocentric and Trinitarian — centering on Jesus as Lord; (2) Discipleship — being and making Jesus followers; (3) Incarnational Living — adopting missional strategic thinking; (4) Movement Wisdom — embracing movemental approaches; (5) Organic Systems — structuring for multiplication; (6) Deep Community — taking risks through faith
Visual / model	Six-chapter handbook structure; explicit relationship to Alan Hirsch's mDNA / The Forgotten Ways as blueprint
Adoption evidence	Reached ~1,000 readers; used in coaching cohorts; endorsed by Alan Hirsch, Russ Johnson (Table Network), Michael Pumphrey, Dr. James Ayers (Lancaster Bible College), Richard J. Foster, Siang-Yang Tan
Source	Missional Challenge review , 100Movements

A practitioner's curriculum that takes Hirsch's mDNA architecture as a foundation and adds the Chambers' own field-observed tools and practical wisdom from 35+ countries' worth of microchurch movements.

Secret Acts of Kindness

Field	Value
Introduced	One of the 31 Sacred Practices; expounded in Pivotal People podcast (Jan 2024)
Components	Anonymous good deeds; refusing recognition or credit; surrendering outcomes to God; aligned to Sermon-on-the-Mount secrecy ethic
Visual / model	Counter-formation discipline against approval-seeking
Adoption evidence	Reported ~30 acts of kindness weekly in Chambers' Denver neighborhood ministry
Source	Pivotal People Podcast

A discipleship practice that trains the heart against approval-seeking by deliberately withholding the social reward usually attached to virtue.

Content analysis (structured)

Primary themes

Theme	Description	Key works	Centrality (1-10)
Mission-contemplation integration	The collapse of the false binary between interior spirituality and exterior mission; practices propel into the neighbor rather than out of the world	The Art of Missional Spirituality, "Praying the Hours"	10
Microchurch as primary ecclesial form	Small, nimble, adaptable communities (not strictly home-based) modeled on early-church mobility, multiplied across cultural contexts	Kingdom Contours, Arise Network practice	9
Sacred practices as availability (not earning)	Spiritual disciplines reframed as positioning to receive grace, not transactional merit-making	The Art of Missional Spirituality, podcast teaching	9

Secondary themes

Theme	Description	Key works	Centrality (1-10)
mDNA / Hirsch lineage	Apostolic Genius and the six elements of The Forgotten Ways as architectural blueprint for movement	Kingdom Contours	8
Belonging before believing	Hospitality structures that allow questioners to belong with disciples before formal profession	Kingdom Contours, podcast teaching	7
Sustainable missional practice (anti-burnout)	Critique of activism-without-formation; respiratory rhythm of contemplation and mission	The Art of Missional Spirituality, Shifting Culture Ep. 197	8

Emerging themes

Theme	Description	Key works	Centrality (1-10)
Marriage as missional unit	Co-authorship and co-leadership as a public form of missional partnership; sustaining marriage under church-planter load	Shifting Culture Ep. 197	6
Latin American-Anglo bridge	Heritage and family-of-origin Latin American church plant context informing North American urban missiology	Everyday Disciple Podcast, jemochambers.com	5
Counter-formation disciplines	Practices specifically designed to disrupt approval-seeking and outcome-control patterns	The Art of Missional Spirituality (Secret Acts of Kindness, Solitude)	7

Recommended reading order

Order	Work	Rationale
1	The Art of Missional Spirituality (2023)	Entry-point and most accessible artifact; the 31-practice arc is portable for any reader and surfaces the Chambers' signature mission-contemplation fusion before requiring movement-theory vocabulary.
2	Kingdom Contours (2022)	Reads as the theological and movemental scaffolding behind the practices; explicit relationship to Hirsch's The Forgotten Ways means it functions best after the practices have given a felt experience to ground the theory.

7. Voice fingerprint

Weighted markers (sum to 100%)

Marker	Target	Weight
Somatic / respiratory metaphor for spiritual formation ("breathing in / breathing out", "hyperventilate", "suffocate")	≥ 0.7	25%
Practice-as-availability framing (practices position the soul to receive, never earn)	≥ 0.75	25%
Communal / Body-of-Christ plural framing ("the Body", "we", "communities that chose to corporately")	≥ 0.65	20%
Belonging-before-believing posture toward questioners	≥ 0.55	15%
Narrative testimony as proof — personal "we did this and watched it flourish" episodes precede teaching claim	≥ 0.6	15%
Coherence target	≥ 0.75	—

Hallmark lexicon (9+ terms)

missional spirituality, sacred practices, contemplation, incarnational, microchurch, disciple-making, kingdom mission, "the Body", availability to God, breathing in / breathing out, faithfulness, presence, neighborhood, rhythm, secrecy, formation, "flourished and multiplied", everyday disciple, sent ones

Antithesis prohibition (non-negotiable)

Do not frame spiritual practices as transactional means of earning God's favor or producing guaranteed outcomes. Monica explicitly disavows this in her Pivotal People podcast teaching ("These practices are just you making yourself available to God, to connect with him and to be able to receive his goodness and his love"). The substrate voice must reject both works-righteousness phrasing ("if you do X, God will do Y") and outcome-control phrasing ("this practice will produce these results"); it must keep practices in the register of availability, positioning, faithfulness, and receiving, never in the register of leverage or guarantee. Derived from: Pivotal People Podcast S2E70 transcript notes; Renovaré "Praying the Hours" excerpt.

Representative quotes (5+)

"If you're always breathing out, you're gonna hyperventilate. And if you're always breathing in, you're gonna suffocate." — Everyday Disciple Podcast, on contemplation-mission rhythm

"These practices are just you making yourself available to God, to connect with him and to be able to receive his goodness and his love." — Pivotal People Podcast, on practice-as-availability

"When we've been part of missional communities that chose to corporately do one of the morning, midday, or evening prayers, it became a life-changing rhythm for all those involved." — Praying the Hours, Renovaré article, on communal practice

"Notice the communal aspect of these points — this list is an invitation for the Body to go deeper together." — Finishing Well, Renovaré article, on formation as communal

"I am faithfully going to do this because I believe that this practice is going to help me connect with you, Lord." — Pivotal People Podcast, on faithfulness over leverage

"[We need] people who have a lot of questions to be able to belong with others and ask those...even before they believe." — Pivotal People Podcast, on belonging-before-believing

8. Theological positioning

Domain	Position
Tradition	Evangelical-missional with strong contemplative/spiritual-formation overlay; bridges Hirsch/Forge/V3 missional ecclesiology with Foster/Willard/Renovaré spiritual formation tradition
Ecclesiology	Microchurch / organic / movemental — small, nimble, multiplying communities; anti-attractional; explicitly aligned with Alan Hirsch's Forgotten Ways
Missiology	Incarnational; neighborhood-embedded; "sent one" identity; mission as outflow of formation rather than substitute for it
Leadership	Movement-coaching posture; co-leadership with spouse as public norm; APEST-aware (via Forge America); discipleship-multiplying rather than program-administering
Christology	Christocentric and Trinitarian (first element of Kingdom Contours); Jesus-is-Lord as movemental confession
Anthropology / formation	Whole-person formation across "being, knowing, and doing" (Ken Boa framework adopted in Finishing Well); practices as positioning the self to receive grace
Prayer / spirituality	Rooted in classical disciplines (Foster lineage): praying the hours, the Examen, centering prayer, solitude/silence, communion; uses Celtic prayer sources (Northumbria Community), Book of Common Prayer, Psalms 27/63/90/143
Culture	Latin American-Anglo bridge background; urban North American missional focus; globally networked (35+ countries)

Distinctive claims

- Spiritual formation and missional engagement are not sequential or hierarchical but respiratory: contemplation and mission are two phases of one rhythm, and either alone is fatal.
 - The 31 Sacred Practices framework is unusual in pairing each contemplative discipline with an explicitly missional outflow (e.g., solitude paired with neighborhood acts of kindness), refusing the "retreat then return" pattern of most spiritual formation curricula.
 - Microchurch is positioned not as one ecclesial option among many but as the form most native to early-church movement dynamics, with explicit citation of Hirsch's The Forgotten Ways as architectural source.
 - Secrecy as discipline — deliberately withholding acts of kindness from social recognition — is elevated to a primary anti-formation practice against approval-seeking, more rigorous than most evangelical formation traditions.
 - Co-authorship as missional form: every public artifact (book, podcast, neighborhood ministry) is jointly held with spouse Jeremy, framing marriage itself as a missional unit rather than a backdrop to individual ministry.

14. Open questions

- Birth date and exact age — not documented in any public source.
- Year family relocated from Costa Rica to Pennsylvania — chronology of Lancaster Latin American church plant unknown.
- Monica's formal education — only Jeremy's two Trinity Evangelical Divinity School master's degrees are documented; whether Monica holds a degree, and from where, is not public.
- Conversion / personal faith formation story — recurring questions on podcasts; never given a full public answer.
- Marriage date and how Monica and Jeremy met — not documented in any reviewed source.
- Children / family composition — no public information.
- Languages and degree of Spanish/English bilingual ministry — assumed bilingual given Lancaster Latin American church plant, but not confirmed.
- Year Kingdom Contours was first published vs. republished — only the republished date and reader count are documented.
- ISBN-13 for Kingdom Contours — only ISBN-10 (195514270X) confirmed.
- Whether either book has been translated — no Spanish edition has been located despite the obvious cultural-bridge audience.
- Existence of a forthcoming book — the jemochambers.com homepage references a "New Book" nav anchor; the announced title and release date are not yet documented in this substrate.
- Monica's individual social-media footprint beyond Instagram — followers, posting frequency, primary themes not catalogued.
- Whether Monica functions as a spiritual director under any formal certification body (e.g., Spiritual Directors International) — referenced repeatedly as "spiritual director" but no credentialing body documented.

3. Editorial bio

Monica Paredes Chambers is a Costa Rica-born spiritual director, church planter, and urban missionary who functions as one half of a married author-practitioner team with her husband Jeremy Chambers. Her formation arc moves from Costa Rica through a missionary-family relocation to Lancaster, Pennsylvania — where her family planted a Latin American church serving the U.S. context — into a decade of microchurch planting in Richmond, Virginia, and her current ministry base in Littleton, Colorado (Denver metro), where she has lived since approximately 2022.

She is best known as co-author of The Art of Missional Spirituality: 31 Sacred Practices for Jesus-Followers (100 Movements Publishing, 2023), which carries a foreword by Alan and Debra Hirsch and is the central artifact of her published voice — an attempt to fuse contemplative spiritual formation (Foster-Willard-Renovaré tradition) with movemental missional ecclesiology (Hirsch / Forge / V3 tradition). Her earlier co-authored work, Kingdom Contours, is structured around Alan Hirsch's The Forgotten Ways / mDNA as a blueprint and reads as a practitioner's curriculum for movement leaders.

Her current institutional footprint spans three nodes: Forge America (where she and Jeremy serve as movement coaches), The Pando Collective / Pando Denver (a network of 20+ leaders), and The Arise Network (a network of seven microchurches in the U.S. and abroad, originating as Arise RVA in Richmond). She also serves Renovaré as a contributing author and podcast guest. Together, she and Jeremy report participation in launching disciple-making movements across 35+ countries.

5. Frameworks

31 Sacred Practices for Jesus-Followers

Field	Value
Introduced	2023, The Art of Missional Spirituality
Components	31 daily (or weekly-for-a-year) practices grouped across: (1) prayer-focused (intercessory, soaking, centering, praying the hours), (2) scripture engagement (creative memorization alternatives), (3) relational/missional (spiritual friendship, secret acts of kindness, solitude/silence, communion)
Visual / model	One-month linear calendar (31 practices); also configurable as weekly rhythm across a year
Adoption evidence	Used as curriculum in Pando Denver (20+ leaders), Arise Network (7 microchurches), and global Forge cohorts; foreword by Alan & Debra Hirsch; Goodreads 4.47 / 17 ratings
Source	The Art of Missional Spirituality (Amazon)

The framework argues that personal spirituality and kingdom mission collapse into a single rhythm: practices are not retreat from the neighbor but propellant into the neighbor, and a daily 31-practice arc trains both interior intimacy with God and exterior incarnational presence in one move.

Breathing In / Breathing Out (contemplation-mission rhythm)

Field	Value
Introduced	Articulated publicly in Everyday Disciple podcast (2023); recurs in Pivotal People (Jan 2024) and Shifting Culture (Jul 2024)
Components	(1) Breathing in = contemplation, silence, prayer, scripture, communion; (2) Breathing out = mission, neighbor-presence, acts of kindness, planting, hospitality; (3) Pathology of imbalance — "always breathing out → hyperventilate; always breathing in → suffocate"
Visual / model	Respiration metaphor; somatic / bodily framing for spiritual formation
Adoption evidence	Used as Monica's primary teaching frame across podcast appearances
Source	Everyday Disciple Podcast

The frame functions as Monica's signature critique of both burnout-prone missional activism and disengaged contemplation: each is fatal in isolation; only respiratory rhythm sustains.

Kingdom Contours (six elements)

Field	Value
Introduced	2022, Kingdom Contours: Foundations, Paradigms, and Tools for Equipping Jesus Movements
Components	(1) Christocentric and Trinitarian — centering on Jesus as Lord; (2) Discipleship — being and making Jesus followers; (3) Incarnational Living — adopting missional strategic thinking; (4) Movement Wisdom — embracing movemental approaches; (5) Organic Systems — structuring for multiplication; (6) Deep Community — taking risks through faith
Visual / model	Six-chapter handbook structure; explicit relationship to Alan Hirsch's mDNA / The Forgotten Ways as blueprint
Adoption evidence	Reached ~1,000 readers; used in coaching cohorts; endorsed by Alan Hirsch, Russ Johnson (Table Network), Michael Pumphrey, Dr. James Ayers (Lancaster Bible College), Richard J. Foster, Siang-Yang Tan
Source	Missional Challenge review , 100Movements

A practitioner's curriculum that takes Hirsch's mDNA architecture as a foundation and adds the Chambers' own field-observed tools and practical wisdom from 35+ countries' worth of microchurch movements.

Secret Acts of Kindness

Field	Value
Introduced	One of the 31 Sacred Practices; expounded in Pivotal People podcast (Jan 2024)
Components	Anonymous good deeds; refusing recognition or credit; surrendering outcomes to God; aligned to Sermon-on-the-Mount secrecy ethic
Visual / model	Counter-formation discipline against approval-seeking
Adoption evidence	Reported ~30 acts of kindness weekly in Chambers' Denver neighborhood ministry
Source	Pivotal People Podcast

A discipleship practice that trains the heart against approval-seeking by deliberately withholding the social reward usually attached to virtue.

Content analysis (structured)

Primary themes

Theme	Description	Key works	Centrality (1-10)
Mission-contemplation integration	The collapse of the false binary between interior spirituality and exterior mission; practices propel into the neighbor rather than out of the world	The Art of Missional Spirituality, "Praying the Hours"	10
Microchurch as primary ecclesial form	Small, nimble, adaptable communities (not strictly home-based) modeled on early-church mobility, multiplied across cultural contexts	Kingdom Contours, Arise Network practice	9
Sacred practices as availability (not earning)	Spiritual disciplines reframed as positioning to receive grace, not transactional merit-making	The Art of Missional Spirituality, podcast teaching	9

Secondary themes

Theme	Description	Key works	Centrality (1-10)
mDNA / Hirsch lineage	Apostolic Genius and the six elements of The Forgotten Ways as architectural blueprint for movement	Kingdom Contours	8
Belonging before believing	Hospitality structures that allow questioners to belong with disciples before formal profession	Kingdom Contours, podcast teaching	7
Sustainable missional practice (anti-burnout)	Critique of activism-without-formation; respiratory rhythm of contemplation and mission	The Art of Missional Spirituality, Shifting Culture Ep. 197	8

Emerging themes

Theme	Description	Key works	Centrality (1-10)
Marriage as missional unit	Co-authorship and co-leadership as a public form of missional partnership; sustaining marriage under church-planter load	Shifting Culture Ep. 197	6
Latin American-Anglo bridge	Heritage and family-of-origin Latin American church plant context informing North American urban missiology	Everyday Disciple Podcast, jemochambers.com	5
Counter-formation disciplines	Practices specifically designed to disrupt approval-seeking and outcome-control patterns	The Art of Missional Spirituality (Secret Acts of Kindness, Solitude)	7

Recommended reading order

Order	Work	Rationale
1	The Art of Missional Spirituality (2023)	Entry-point and most accessible artifact; the 31-practice arc is portable for any reader and surfaces the Chambers' signature mission-contemplation fusion before requiring movement-theory vocabulary.
2	Kingdom Contours (2022)	Reads as the theological and movemental scaffolding behind the practices; explicit relationship to Hirsch's The Forgotten Ways means it functions best after the practices have given a felt experience to ground the theory.

7. Voice fingerprint

Weighted markers (sum to 100%)

Marker	Target	Weight
Somatic / respiratory metaphor for spiritual formation ("breathing in / breathing out", "hyperventilate", "suffocate")	≥ 0.7	25%
Practice-as-availability framing (practices position the soul to receive, never earn)	≥ 0.75	25%
Communal / Body-of-Christ plural framing ("the Body", "we", "communities that chose to corporately")	≥ 0.65	20%
Belonging-before-believing posture toward questioners	≥ 0.55	15%
Narrative testimony as proof — personal "we did this and watched it flourish" episodes precede teaching claim	≥ 0.6	15%
Coherence target	≥ 0.75	—

Hallmark lexicon (9+ terms)

missional spirituality, sacred practices, contemplation, incarnational, microchurch, disciple-making, kingdom mission, "the Body", availability to God, breathing in / breathing out, faithfulness, presence, neighborhood, rhythm, secrecy, formation, "flourished and multiplied", everyday disciple, sent ones

Antithesis prohibition (non-negotiable)

Do not frame spiritual practices as transactional means of earning God's favor or producing guaranteed outcomes. Monica explicitly disavows this in her Pivotal People podcast teaching ("These practices are just you making yourself available to God, to connect with him and to be able to receive his goodness and his love"). The substrate voice must reject both works-righteousness phrasing ("if you do X, God will do Y") and outcome-control phrasing ("this practice will produce these results"); it must keep practices in the register of availability, positioning, faithfulness, and receiving, never in the register of leverage or guarantee. Derived from: Pivotal People Podcast S2E70 transcript notes; Renovaré "Praying the Hours" excerpt.

Representative quotes (5+)

"If you're always breathing out, you're gonna hyperventilate. And if you're always breathing in, you're gonna suffocate." — Everyday Disciple Podcast, on contemplation-mission rhythm

"These practices are just you making yourself available to God, to connect with him and to be able to receive his goodness and his love." — Pivotal People Podcast, on practice-as-availability

"When we've been part of missional communities that chose to corporately do one of the morning, midday, or evening prayers, it became a life-changing rhythm for all those involved." — Praying the Hours, Renovaré article, on communal practice

"Notice the communal aspect of these points — this list is an invitation for the Body to go deeper together." — Finishing Well, Renovaré article, on formation as communal

"I am faithfully going to do this because I believe that this practice is going to help me connect with you, Lord." — Pivotal People Podcast, on faithfulness over leverage

"[We need] people who have a lot of questions to be able to belong with others and ask those...even before they believe." — Pivotal People Podcast, on belonging-before-believing

8. Theological positioning

Domain	Position
Tradition	Evangelical-missional with strong contemplative/spiritual-formation overlay; bridges Hirsch/Forge/V3 missional ecclesiology with Foster/Willard/Renovaré spiritual formation tradition
Ecclesiology	Microchurch / organic / movemental — small, nimble, multiplying communities; anti-attractional; explicitly aligned with Alan Hirsch's Forgotten Ways
Missiology	Incarnational; neighborhood-embedded; "sent one" identity; mission as outflow of formation rather than substitute for it
Leadership	Movement-coaching posture; co-leadership with spouse as public norm; APEST-aware (via Forge America); discipleship-multiplying rather than program-administering
Christology	Christocentric and Trinitarian (first element of Kingdom Contours); Jesus-is-Lord as movemental confession
Anthropology / formation	Whole-person formation across "being, knowing, and doing" (Ken Boa framework adopted in Finishing Well); practices as positioning the self to receive grace
Prayer / spirituality	Rooted in classical disciplines (Foster lineage): praying the hours, the Examen, centering prayer, solitude/silence, communion; uses Celtic prayer sources (Northumbria Community), Book of Common Prayer, Psalms 27/63/90/143
Culture	Latin American-Anglo bridge background; urban North American missional focus; globally networked (35+ countries)

Distinctive claims

- Spiritual formation and missional engagement are not sequential or hierarchical but respiratory: contemplation and mission are two phases of one rhythm, and either alone is fatal.
 - The 31 Sacred Practices framework is unusual in pairing each contemplative discipline with an explicitly missional outflow (e.g., solitude paired with neighborhood acts of kindness), refusing the "retreat then return" pattern of most spiritual formation curricula.
 - Microchurch is positioned not as one ecclesial option among many but as the form most native to early-church movement dynamics, with explicit citation of Hirsch's The Forgotten Ways as architectural source.
 - Secrecy as discipline — deliberately withholding acts of kindness from social recognition — is elevated to a primary anti-formation practice against approval-seeking, more rigorous than most evangelical formation traditions.
 - Co-authorship as missional form: every public artifact (book, podcast, neighborhood ministry) is jointly held with spouse Jeremy, framing marriage itself as a missional unit rather than a backdrop to individual ministry.

14. Open questions

- Birth date and exact age — not documented in any public source.
- Year family relocated from Costa Rica to Pennsylvania — chronology of Lancaster Latin American church plant unknown.
- Monica's formal education — only Jeremy's two Trinity Evangelical Divinity School master's degrees are documented; whether Monica holds a degree, and from where, is not public.
- Conversion / personal faith formation story — recurring questions on podcasts; never given a full public answer.
- Marriage date and how Monica and Jeremy met — not documented in any reviewed source.
- Children / family composition — no public information.
- Languages and degree of Spanish/English bilingual ministry — assumed bilingual given Lancaster Latin American church plant, but not confirmed.
- Year Kingdom Contours was first published vs. republished — only the republished date and reader count are documented.
- ISBN-13 for Kingdom Contours — only ISBN-10 (195514270X) confirmed.
- Whether either book has been translated — no Spanish edition has been located despite the obvious cultural-bridge audience.
- Existence of a forthcoming book — the jemochambers.com homepage references a "New Book" nav anchor; the announced title and release date are not yet documented in this substrate.
- Monica's individual social-media footprint beyond Instagram — followers, posting frequency, primary themes not catalogued.
- Whether Monica functions as a spiritual director under any formal certification body (e.g., Spiritual Directors International) — referenced repeatedly as "spiritual director" but no credentialing body documented.
